Drawing on 75 years of great characters

Comics have been with us since Victorian times. However, it was the launch of our longest-running comic, The Dandy, in 1937, that began the heyday of British comics. In fact, there can be few amongst us who haven't chortled over the adventures of Desperate Dan, the world's strongest man.

Yet The Dandy is just one of the comics that have thrilled, entertained and amused the nation's children for decades. There are also a host of other inspirational comics and characters that deserve to be celebrated.

We commissioned research to work out what the most influential and popular comics and comic characters of the last 75 years are, enabling us to create ten First Class Special Stamps featuring not just our greatest characters, but also their most memorable publications.

As this is such a fascinating and popular subject, we are also delighted to offer a First Day Cover and a Presentation Pack looking at the history and artistry of this popular subject, through a wealth of illustrations and reproductions.

Mint Stamps

Price £4.60
Code AS770

Two great strips
Brought to you in perfect condition as two se-tenen strips, the Mint Stamps are the ideal way in which to enjoy these timeless comics and characters.

First Day Cover Stamps

Price Inland £6.00
Price Overseas £5.00
Code AF354

This playful First Day Cover features the Special Stamps and includes a filler card looking at each of the comics, written by Graham Kebble-White. It can be cancelled with your choice of a Tallents House postmark, or a Dundee postmark; chosen as it is the home of D.C. Thompson Ltd, publisher of both The Dandy and The Beano.
